Tudor touches like half-timbering and the prominent chimney add charming curb appeal.

Need room for a live-in relative? This Visbeen Architects plan is ready with two master suites! Not only does the main-level master suite boast all the amenities of its upstairs counterpart, but it even has a nearby study that could become a semi-private sitting room. The kitchen's undoubtedly the heart of this charming home, with a built-in booth in the kitchen adding cozy seating not far from the open dining room. Four bedrooms occupy the second level, along with a bright loft.
