The U.S. team lost the final to Canada in Salt Lake City in 2002 and again in Vancouver. Two silver medals in three Olympics are undeniably impressive, but not what the Americans are aiming for when they begin play on Thursday against Slovakia.

"A lot of us were on the team in Vancouver," defenseman Ryan Suter said. "We felt how close we really were. We all learned a lot from that experience, and I think we're just excited to be here and have another shot at this.'
